

GHANA WOMEN'S AWARDS 2013

The Ghana Women's Awards 2013 was organized by Brein Consult under the auspices of the Ministry of Gender, Children and Social Protection, to honour selfless and dedicated services of Ghanaian women in their various fields of endeavor. This year's event was held on the theme "Celebrating womanhood, a key element for national development" at the Accra International Conference Centre on Friday, 31st May, 2013.

Dr. Lucy Asamoah-Akuoko received the "Outstanding Female Doctor" award.

Nana Oye Lithur, Minister of Gender, Children and Social Protection congratulated the award winners, saying that, women have the power to change the lives of people in the positive way. She therefore advised the award winners to mentor other young women and also serve as their role models to enable them succeed. She also urged other organizations to come up with an award scheme to honour dedicated and selfless services of women who are in the informal sector and are contributing to the development of Ghana.

In all, 20 outstanding women were awarded for excelling in their various fields
